Content-Based English Language Arts Instruction for Secondary English Learners

Note: This course is now archived and no longer actively moderated by an instructor. The syllabus is provided here as a reference.

Course Description

Participants of this course will implement the Common Core State Standards (CCSS) using research-based practices in linguistically diverse English language arts (ELA) classrooms. Participants will synthesize knowledge of culturally responsive instruction, the stages of language acquisition, and California ELD Proficiency Descriptors or WIDA Can-Do Descriptors to plan and implement effective standards-based instruction (SBI) for English learners (ELs). Drawing upon collective and individual strengths and needs, participants will determine objectives, differentiate instruction, and modify assessments to make content comprehensible for ELs. Utilizing skills acquired throughout this course, participants will make sound pedagogical decisions that maintain rigor and high expectations for all students while facilitating access to complex material for language learners of varying proficiency levels and backgrounds.

Student Learning Outcomes

- Explicitly identify and cultivate the cultural competence, human capital, knowledge, experiences, and resources students bring to the classroom
- Develop, define, refine, communicate, and assess content objectives for every lesson
- Develop, define, refine, communicate, and assess language objectives for every lesson
- Ensure objectives derive from, and are aligned with, English language proficiency (ELP) as well as content standards
- Differentiate instruction through lesson adaptation and instructional modifications
- Scaffold instruction in response to students' individualized language and content learning needs
- Identify the language demands and domains embedded in lessons and explicitly address language use and needs for both teaching and learning
- Analyze academic language and implement appropriate teaching strategies in listening, speaking, reading, and writing using SBI
- Design an engaging, rigorous lesson for secondary ELs in ELA classrooms

Course Assignments

Week 1-2

- 1. Post an introduction. Include the following: teaching experience, experience with ELs, your hopes for this course.
- 2. Discussion: Choose a student from the EdWeek profiles. Read and listen to the student's story and reflect on his/her experiences with school and challenges regarding language and content learning.
- 3. Familiarize yourself with the lesson plan rubric.

Week 3-4

- 1. Discussion: How does Anne Formato, in the Colorín Colorado video, apply the Seven Principles of Effective Instruction for ELs and/or the principles for scaffolding instruction? How would you integrate one of these principles into your instruction?
- 2. Identify a lesson you will teach. This might be a lesson that needs updating or a new lesson idea. The lesson should include the reading of a complex nonfiction text. You will build this lesson throughout this course. Complete the first part of the Lesson Plan Template (up to the Define section)

Week 5-6

- 1. Discussion: Reflect on how the shifts might impact English learners and the strategies Kerri Bohringer (Colorin Colorado video) employed to help her students meet the CCSS.
- 2. Update your lesson plan. Complete the Define section of the lesson plan template based on review of the PPT. Also complete the following parts of the Apply section: Identify the language demands in reading and writing, and key academic language. Review the lesson plan rubric.

Week 7-8

- 1. Discussion: What are some technological or social media tools teachers can use to engage students and deepen academic conversations? How might these be structured for English ELs?
- 2. Update your lesson plan.Complete the Apply section of the lesson plan template. Refer to the Lesson Plan Rubric. Begin the Lesson Activities (p.3) section of the lesson plan.

Week 9-10

1. Discussion: Return to the student profiles. Read about and listen to Morry Bamba. Read the "California High School Exit Exam" practice test (p. 17–18) and keep Morry in mind. Think about the following questions: What is the assessment intending to assess? What does it actually assess? What cultural knowledge does Morry need to be successful on this assessment?

2. Update your lesson plan. Complete your lesson plan. The assessment can be formative or summative but must assess student progress.

Final Project

Participants will design a lesson involving interaction with a complex text in the ELA classroom. The standards-based lesson will meet the needs of all students by utilizing culturally responsive instruction, and by addressing the stages of language acquisition and academic language development. The lesson will incorporate research-based strategies in meaningful ways to challenge all students to meet the demands of SBI.
